MISS WILKINSON DEAD

The Sad End of a West Virginia Scandal.

SHE EXPIRED IN A HOSPITAL

The Woman Had Been Away From Home For Months, but Her Child Lives After Her — Indignation Directed Toward Joseph Mumford.

Man's peridy and woman's trust have added another chapter to the long, long story, and a new made grave in the little cemetery near Ohioville is all that remains of an incident that will soon be forgotten as hundreds of others have been forgotten before it.

Several years ago Joseph Mumford was a respected young farmer residing a short distance from Hookstown. He had a young wife who thought he was the only man on earth, and in due time a babe came to grace their home. All went well for a while, and the house was the abode of happiness and content, but a serpent crept unknowingly into the Eden, and three lives were cursed forever.

Not far from Mumford's house was the residence of a man named Wilkinson. He was a driller by occupation, and had a family of three boys, and a pretty daughter. The latter was known to her friends as Bessie, but her real name was Vesta, and she was in every way a dutiful daughter. By some means she became friendly with Mumford, and one day the community was shocked by the story that they were living together in Wheeling. All the people were scandalized, but when Wilkinson went to Wheeling and brought his child home the stories ceased, and nothing more was heard of it until last April, when it was reported that the two were living in Beaver. Bessie had, meantime, lost her many friends in the community, and Mumford was regarded as a bad man by those who knew him. At length they came home and it was hinted that they were married, but this they denied, although they lived very much together at the McPherson house, between Hookstown and Chester. At length the scandal reached such proportions that Mrs. Mumford's father-in-law, Nelson Cornell, the man who carries the mail from the postoffice to the depot in this city, entered a charge against the man of adultery. When the day for the hearing arrived Cornell did not appear and the West Virginia justice before whom the trial was to take place dismissed the case. It was then understood that the case had been compromised through the efforts of Mumford's relatives, who are respected people and wanted him to go free. After a time Bessie and Mumford disappeared from their homes, and it was generally believed that Cornell's suspicions were true, and they had departed to cover the disgrace. Bessie was thought to be working in the boarding house of Mrs. Shipley in Wheeling and Mumford at Imperial, Pa., but nothing definite was known until yesterday when Mumford came home. To people who wonderingly asked him where he had been he had nothing to say. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon a message came from Wilkinson, but as he was not at home it was given to his son Addison. The young man turned pale when he read it for it contained these words: "Your daughter, Elizabeth Mumford, is dead. What shall I do with the remains."

It was signed by J. M. Flannery, a Pittsburg undertaker, and was an awful shock for the young man who was at work at the oil well on the Stewart farm. Hastening to the Mumford house, he saw the man walking toward the barn, and, following him, Wilkinson demanded where his sister was. At first Mumford denied any knowledge of her, but the brother was wild with grief, and eventually forced from him the story that she had died in a hospital in Pittsburg on Thursday, the child having been born three weeks ago and was still living at the hospital. Wilkinson was so excited that he forgot to ask the name of the hospital, and leaving the man, walked away to tell the other members of the family the sad news.

Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Duff had come to Liverpool to telegraph to the owners of the well at Bridgeport last evening, and knew nothing of the affair until they started for home about 10 o'clock. When they reached the other side of the river they met Miss Laura McPherson, who is a member of the family with whom Mumford and Bessie stopped early in the summer and is now employed at the National House, and Charles Hutcheson. From them Mr. Wilkinson learned the sad intelligence, and strong man that he is he gave way to his grief. At length he was quieted, and decided to remain in town all night going to Pittsburg with Hutcheson this morning. The body was brought to Smith's Ferry this afternoon, and it was the intention to bury it at Ohioville, but later it was decided to have the interment at Salem, a small town nearby. It was decided to have an autopsy held in Pittsburg in order that the crime, if crime there is, can be fastened on the guilty one.

Bessie was the idol of her home, and all the oil men knew her as a favorite. She was only 20 years of age, and they looked upon her as a child. Her mother has been dead six years, and she was the pride of the household. They came to their home near Hookstown from Lawrence county, and her father is a driller with a wide acquaintance in the oil country. When the news of her death became noised about last evening there was great excitement, and a resident of that part of the country says Mumford would have been lynched if there had been a leader for the indignant farmers and drillers.

MUSICAL RECITAL.

An Enjoyable Evening of Vocal and Instrumental Music.

The pupils of Miss M. Grace Reed gave a musical recital last night in the parish building of St. Stephen's church, the audience, composed of friends of the pupils, being limited to those holding special invitations. The auditorium, which is an excellent one for such purpose, was prettily decorated with wild flowers, and presented an attractive appearance. The performers all gave evidence of the careful and thorough training which they receive at the hands of Miss Reed. In the arrangement of the recital and its rendition, Miss Reed was kindly assisted by Messrs. Usher and Young. It is intended to repeat these musical evenings at intervals during the coming season, and those who may be favored with invitations will be certain of a musical treat. The program, as a whole, was admirably rendered. The slight nervousness apparent in nearly all the performers, will doubtless be overcome by future recitals. Special mention should be made of the violin, autoharp and harmonica trios, by Messrs. Young and Usher, which were much appreciated by the audience. Miss O'Meara's playing was characterized by delicacy and expression, her style being best shown in her second number. Miss Gould played, as usual, with brilliancy and finish, some difficult passages being executed with great precision. The two vocal numbers were also good. Miss Miles, the young prima donna, evidently needs to study clearness of pronunciation. Her voice is pure and smooth and gives promise of excellent work in the future. Following is the program:

Girls of the South, Waltz.....Leo Wheat
Miss O'Meara.
The Soldier's Bride.....Schumann
Miss Miles.
Manhattan Beach, March.....Souza
Mr. Young and Mr. Usher.
The Skylark.....Tschalkowsky
Miss O'Meara.

Miss Miles.

A SENSATIONAL CASE.

Lisbon Gossips Have a Dainty Morsel to Roll.

Special to the NEWS REVIEW.

LISBON, Sept. 21.—County seat gossips were given a dainty morsel today when C. W. Hummer filed an action for divorce from his wife, Maude Hummer, charging her with unfaithfulness. Mr. Taylor, a Salem business man, is named as the co-respondent, and highly sensational developments are expected should the case come to trial. Mr. and Mrs. Hummer were married in 1891, and came here from Warren last spring. The plaintiff is a shoe merchant, and the pair have a child. Hummer claims to have letters in his possession that are damaging to the defendant. Taylor is a society man of Salem, and is engaged to marry a prominent young lady of that place.

THE SAFE IS LOCKED.

An East End Business Man Is Short of Money.

One of the prominent East End business men was swearing softly under his luxuriant growth of whiskers yesterday, and making all sorts of excuses because he was short of money. He did not like to tell the whole story, but it came out in a short time that he had locked his safe and for some reason was unable to open it. He at once notified the manufacturer, and was patiently waiting to hear something from that source.

HAD TO HAVE MONEY

So Council Met In Special Session.

SIX HUNDRED DOLLARS NEEDED

For the Improvement of Ridgeway Avenue and Land's End.—The Mayor and Clerk Authorized to Borrow—A Little Matter That Was Passed.

There was a special meeting of council last evening, the sole purpose of which was the borrowing of a little money for the improvement of Ridgeway avenue, and that other part of the street known as Land's End.

President Marshall had called the meeting for 5 o'clock, but it was later than that when he looked over the assemblage and found that Peake, Owen, Horwell and Challis were the only members present. After it was all over Mr. Stewart came in, but he explained that he was just returning from work at that hour, and it was impossible for him to come. The president announced that the special was called for the purpose of providing means for the raising of money for the improvement of Ridgeway avenue. There was silence for a moment, and then Mr. Owen asked if it would not be best to include Peake street in the plan, but he met with a negative reply. Clerk Hanley had been looking over the records, and found that the valuation of some of the property along the street would not stand the assessment under the law. Some of them were valued at no more than $40, and that would not be sufficient for the purpose. When this was explained, Mr. Owen moved that the clerk and mayor be instructed to borrow $600, to be used in improving Ridgeway avenue and Land's End street, and Mr. Horwell seconded. The motion carried, and the meeting was ready for adjournment when another question was raised. Captain Martin, of East End, has a house and lot at Grant street and Lincoln avenue, and when the grading was completed there, he found that he was 10 feet in the air. Since it would cost numerous hundreds of dollars to get on a level with the street again, he wanted council, through his representative, to give him three feet of the pavement upon which to rest a retaining wall. As the walk at that point is 15 feet wide, the captain thought he could use three feet very well and not hurt the walking public. Council, however, did not view it in that light. Mr. Owen thought it could not legally be granted, because it would then form a permanent obstruction, and these were not the best thing for a city. If he remembered right there was a 10 foot yard in front of the house, and he thought the foundation for the wall could easily be cut from that. As the matter could not be considered at a special meeting, council adjourned.

SHARP WILL DIE.

The Deadly Poison From a Spider Does Its Work.

Daniel Sharp, the man who was referred to in the NEWS REVIEW a few days ago as suffering from the bite of a spider, is very low, and it is feared he will die before the day is over. The poison has spread through his entire system, and he is in an awful condition. A reporter learned this afternoon at the residence of William Bridge on Third street, where he resides, that they did not expect him to live through the night. If Sharp could endure an operation the hand would have been cut off but he is far too weak, and it is thought he would die under the operation. Sharp is a saggarmaker at the D. E. McNicol pottery.

THE TEAMS WERE NUMEROUS.

The East End Hill Route is an Absolute Necessity.

Talk about there not being much travel over the hill road, connecting East Liverpool with her East End suburb, and that's where the opponents of good roads and common sense make blockheads of themselves. The writer took a run over said road on his wheel this morning, and met at least one dozen teams—farmer's teams—coming in to East Liverpool. Improve that hill road, as good sense dictates should be done, and our city will be a heavy gainer. Make the thoroughfare so that it shall be passable every day in the year. Properly graded, widened and improved, it would make indeed a pleasant drive, while the scenery and landscape view is simply superbly beautiful. If any of our readers doubt the last assertion, let them take a jaunt over the route any fine evening, about the sunset hour, and their doubts will be thoroughly dispelled. The outlets and inlets to East Liverpool must and shall be improved. Good roads are absolutely necessary to the prosperity of the city. Old foggy ideas must be relegated to oblivion. Progress is the watchword of the hour. The matter of dumping dirt and refuse from gutters to the center of the roadway, year after year, at heavy expense to the county, is the height of absurdity and foolishness, and a halt must be called. "Improve our roadways" is the cry of the masses, farmers and residents of towns and cities. It is a grandly good feature. Push it along.

DOCTOR MULLER WON.

The Cleveland Divine Was Too Much For His Opponents.

CANTON, Sept. 21.—While the opposition was doing a good deal of talking, Doctor Muller was quietly pulling the wires, and when the election for delegate to the general conference had ended he was an easy winner. He went with a combine with the south and east ends of the district and beat the west end delegates at their own game. They made too many combinations and could not deliver the goods.

Doctor Muller combined with Stewart, of the Steubenville district, and Holtz, of the Alliance-Canton district. Both pulled with him. Doctor Edmunds, of Canton, would also have been elected on the first ballot, but Muller was afraid to attempt too many things at one time and saved Edmunds for the second ballot.

Then J. I. Wilson and D. C. Osborne were elected by the Muller combine and the thing was done.

THAT STRIKE.

What Charles Shenkle Tells of the Akron Strike.

Charles Shenkle, one of the stockholders of the Akron pottery, was in town this afternoon, and stated that the strike there was a small affair. A jiggerman was absent, he said, and another man was put on the work. It was found necessary to have another assist him, but the last refused to work, and was discharged, whereupon the jiggerman quit. That is all the strike he knows of. The reported suspension of work was caused by a scarcity of saggars which caused a number of men to quit for a few days.

GOING TO JOHNSTOWN.

Manager Frank Swaney Has a New Position.

Frank Swaney has been notified by the management of the telephone company at Pittsburg that he is transferred to Johnstown, Pa., and is expected to take up his duties there next week. Mr. Swaney is at present doing the work of the local manager in Steubenville, and the announcement of the change was very much of a surprise to him. It has not yet been decided who will occupy the place here, but it has been tendered to Will Swaney. If he does not accept it a new man will be brought in.

BROKE HIS ARM.

A Youth Fell Out of a Wagon on Third Street.

James, the young son of Oscar Bowles, residing at 277 Third street, was riding in a wagon last night when, in some unexplainable manner, he fell to the pavement and broke his arm. A doctor was called and found the lad had sustained a severe injury. The bone protruded from the flesh in three different places, and the little fellow suffered severely. Other physicians were called in, and the arm was set. The boy is a sick youngster today, although getting along as well as his friends expected.

HARD AT IT.

The Burton-Williams Case Drags Its Way Along.

The Williams-Burton case being heard by Referee J. J. Purinton continues to drag its way along at city hall, and it is thought Monday will come before the testimony is all in. No new developments have appeared except that business was loosely carried on by the concern, and little account was kept of the transactions as they took place. Attorney J. H. Brookes has that end which affects Koros and Williams and W. B. Hill and P. M. Smith are attorneys for Burton.

A New Piano.

Students of the high school have been so anxious to secure a piano that they have given up all hope of one being donated and have decided to purchase one by donations from the teachers and themselves. A committee was around having a look at pianos for sale last evening.

TOOK UP THE CARPET

But It Almost Cost the Loss of a House.

THE STAND TOPPLED OVER

And With It Went a Lighted Lamp. Luckily the Blaze Was Soon Extinguished Without Great Damage—Another Fire in the West End.

What promised for a few minutes to be a fire of no mean proportions was luckily extinguished after a short fight on Jackson street yesterday evening.

The house in question is situated on the narrow portion of the street between Sixth and Seventh, and is a small building, occupied by Mr. Lafferty and family. They were preparing to move, and were taking up the carpet in the parlor, when it was given an unusually hard pull. On the carpet was a stand and on the stand a lamp, and when the carpet moved the stand toppled. The lamp fell on the floor, and the oil running out caught from the blaze. In an instant the room was filled with fire and smoke, the burning oil being well scattered in the room. Neighbors saw the danger, and the fire was extinguished in short order. A man was about to turn in an alarm when someone informed him the blaze was out, and the department was spared the exertion of a run.

Councilman Peake was aroused from his slumbers at his home in West End by the cry of fire yesterday morning, and soon discovered that smoke was pouring from a house nearby, but before an alarm could be turned in the fire was extinguished. The blaze was caused by a lamp which had upset, and the fire, catching the curtains in the room, threatened for a time to consume the building. The measures used were prompt, and it did not take long to extinguish the flames.

TRAINING FOR THE FIGHT.

Murray Getting In Shape for His Fight With Reilly.

Peter Murray, the pugilist who claims the distinction of being the champion lightweight of New Jersey, evidently means business regarding the proposed fight with Reilly, the Pittsburg man. He is now in training, and last night Thomas Potts, the Wellsville pugilist, put him through a course of sprouts at his athletic quarters at the National House. Murray finds in Potts his equal, if not his superior in the pugilistic line, because of Potts being of heavier weight.

The men allow no one to witness their boxing, but it is known that they are training for what will be Murray's supreme effort.

MEANOR AT MINGO.

While His Paramour Will Serve a Term In the Work.

Harry Meanor, Sr., the ex-salonist who left the city Thursday in company with Ida Smith, of Third street, and eluded the officers when Ida was captured in Steubenville, has been located in Mingo and relatives went there this afternoon to bring him home.

The Smith woman, it is understood, has been sent to the Cleveland workhouse on conviction of adultery.

WELL REPRESENTED.

Half the Prisoners in the County Jail From the South.

Special to NEWS REVIEW.

LISBON, Sept. 21.—The southern part of the county is well represented in the 14 prisoners who make up the guests at Sheriff Lodge's hostelry, and East Liverpool more so than any other town. Wellsville has two prisoners there and Liverpool has five. The others are from different parts of the county.

Lincoln Avenue Done.

Contractor Ryan announced today that he had completed the work of paving Lincoln avenue with the exception of a few finishing touches which will be put on early in the week. He hopes to have it all done by Tuesday evening in order that it can be presented to council and the matter settled up. The paving is a great improvement, and is already being appreciated by people living on the street.

Van E. Bernard Dead.

Van B. Bernard, one of the best known residents of Hancock county, died at the residence of Hon. Peter A. Pugh, over the river, last night, after an illness extending over many months, consumption being the disease. He was 56 years of age, and has been prominent in politics since he was a young man. John L. Bernard, the well known painter of this city, is a brother of the deceased.

The motion carried, and the meeting was ready for adjournment when another question was raised. Captain Martin, of East End, has a house and lot at Grant street and Lincoln avenue, and when the grading was completed there, he found that he was 10 feet in the air. Since it would cost numerous hundreds of dollars to get on a level with the street again, he wanted council, through his representative, to give him three feet of the pavement upon which to rest a retaining wall. As the walk at that point is 15 feet wide, the captain thought he could use three feet very well and not hurt the walking public. Council, however, did not view it in that light. Mr. Owen thought it could not legally be granted, because it would then form a permanent obstruction, and these were not the best thing for a city. If he remembered right there was a 10 foot yard in front of the house, and he thought the foundation for the wall could easily be cut from that. As the matter could not be considered at a special meeting, council adjourned.

SHARP WILL DIE.

The Deadly Poison From a Spider Does Its Work.

Daniel Sharp, the man who was referred to in the NEWS REVIEW a few days ago as suffering from the bite of a spider, is very low, and it is feared he will die before the day is over. The poison has spread through his entire system, and he is in an awful condition. A reporter learned this afternoon at the residence of William Bridge on Third street, where he resides, that they did not expect him to live through the night. If Sharp could endure an operation the hand would have been cut off but he is far too weak, and it is thought he would die under the operation. Sharp is a saggarmaker at the D. E. McNicol pottery.

THE TEAMS WERE NUMEROUS.

The East End Hill Route is an Absolute Necessity.

Talk about there not being much travel over the hill road, connecting East Liverpool with her East End suburb, and that's where the opponents of good roads and common sense make blockheads of themselves. The writer took a run over said road on his wheel this morning, and met at least one dozen teams—farmer's teams—coming in to East Liverpool. Improve that hill road, as good sense dictates should be done, and our city will be a heavy gainer. Make the thoroughfare so that it shall be passable every day in the year. Properly graded, widened and improved, it would make indeed a pleasant drive, while the scenery and landscape view is simply superbly beautiful. If any of our readers doubt the last assertion, let them take a jaunt over the route any fine evening, about the sunset hour, and their doubts will be thoroughly dispelled. The outlets and inlets to East Liverpool must and shall be improved. Good roads are absolutely necessary to the prosperity of the city. Old fog ideas must be relegated to oblivion. Progress is the watchword of the hour. The matter of dumping dirt and refuse from gutters to the center of the roadway, year after year, at heavy expense to the county, is the height of absurdity and foolishness, and a halt must be called. "Improve our roadways" is the cry of the masses, farmers and residents of towns and cities. It is a grandly good feature. Push it along.

DOCTOR MULLER WON.

The Cleveland Divine Was Too Much For His Opponents.

CANTON, Sept. 21.—While the opposition was doing a good deal of talking, Doctor Muller was quietly pulling the wires, and when the election for delegate to the general conference had ended he was an easy winner. He went with a combine with the south and east ends of the district and beat the west end delegates at their own game. They made too many combinations and could not deliver the goods.

Doctor Muller combined with Stewart, of the Steubenville district, and Holtz, of the Alliance-Canton district. Both pulled with him. Doctor Edmunds, of Canton, would also have been elected on the first ballot, but Muller was afraid to attempt too many things at one time and saved Edmunds for the second ballot.

Then J. I. Wilson and D. C. Osborne were elected by the Muller combine and the thing was done.

THAT STRIKE.

What Charles Shenkle Tells of the Akron Strike.

Charles Shenkle, one of the stockholders of the Akron pottery, was in town this afternoon, and stated that the strike there was a small affair. A jiggerman was absent, he said, and another man was put on the work. It was found necessary to have another assist him, but the last refused to work, and was discharged, whereupon the jiggerman quit. That is all the strike he knows of. The reported suspension of work was caused by a scarcity of saggars which caused a number of men to quit for a few days.

GOING TO JOHNSTOWN.

Manager Frank Swaney Has a New Position.

Frank Swaney has been notified by the management of the telephone company at Pittsburg that he is transferred to Johnstown, Pa., and is expected to take up his duties there next week. Mr. Swaney is at present doing the work of the local manager in Steubenville, and the announcement of the change was very much of a surprise to him. It has not yet been decided who will occupy the place here, but it has been tendered to Will Swaney. If he does not accept it a new man will be brought in.

BROKE HIS ARM.

A Youth Felt Out of a Wagon on Third Street.

James, the young son of Oscar Bowles, residing at 277 Third street, was riding in a wagon last night when, in some unexplainable manner, he fell to the pavement and broke his arm. A doctor was called and found the lad had sustained a severe injury. The bone protruded from the flesh in three different places, and the little fellow suffered severely. Other physicians were called in, and the arm was set. The boy is a sick youngster today, although getting along as well as his friends expected.

HARD AT IT.

The Burton-Williams Case Drags Its Way Along.

The Williams-Burton case being heard by Referee J. J. Purinton continues to drag its way along at city hall, and it is thought Monday will come before the testimony is all in. No new developments have appeared except that business was loosely carried on by the concern, and little account was kept of the transactions as they took place. Attorney J. H. Brookes has that end which affects Korns and Williams and W. B. Hill and P. M. Smith are attorneys for Burton.

A New Piano.

Students of the high school have been so anxious to secure a piano that they have given up all hope of one being donated and have decided to purchase one by donations from the teachers and themselves. A committee was around having a look at pianos for sale last evening.

TOOK UP THE CARPET

But It Almost Cost the Loss of a House.

THE STAND TOPPLED OVER

And With It Went a Lighted Lamp. Luckily the Blaze Was Soon Extinguished Without Great Damage—Another Fire in the West End.

What promised for a few minutes to be a fire of no mean proportions was luckily extinguished after a short fight on Jackson street yesterday evening.

The house in question is situated on the narrow portion of the street between Sixth and Seventh, and is a small building, occupied by Mr. Laferty and family. They were preparing to move, and were taking up the carpet in the parlor, when it was given an unusually hard pull. On the carpet was a stand and on the stand a lamp, and when the carpet moved the stand toppled. The lamp fell on the floor, and the oil running out caught from the blaze. In an instant the room was filled with fire and smoke, the burning oil being well scattered in the room. Neighbors saw the danger, and the fire was extinguished in short order. A man was about to turn in an alarm when someone informed him the blaze was out, and the department was spared the exertion of a run.

Councilman Peake was aroused from his slumbers at his home in West End by the cry of fire yesterday morning, and soon discovered that smoke was pouring from a house nearby, but before an alarm could be turned in the fire was extinguished. The blaze was caused by a lamp which had upset, and the fire, catching the curtains in the room, threatened for a time to consume the building. The measures used were prompt, and it did not take long to extinguish the flames.

TRAINING FOR THE FIGHT.

Murray Getting In Shape for His Fight With Reilly.

Peter Murray, the pugilist who claims the distinction of being the champion lightweight of New Jersey, evidently means business regarding the proposed fight with Reilly, the Pittsburg man. He is now in training, and last night Thomas Potts, the Wellsville pugilist, put him through a course of sprouts at his athletic quarters at the National House. Murray finds in Potts his equal, if not his superior in the pugilistic line, because of Potts being of heavier weight.

The men allow no one to witness their boxing, but it is known that they are training for what will be Murray's supreme effort.

MEANOR AT MINGO.

While His Paramour Will Serve a Term In the Works.

Harry Meanor, Sr., the ex-saloonist who left the city Thursday in company with Ida Smith, of Third street, and eluded the officers when Ida was captured in Steubenville, has been located in Mingo and relatives went there this afternoon to bring him home.

The Smith woman, it is understood, has been sent to the Cleveland workhouse on conviction of adultery.

WELL REPRESENTED.

Half the Prisoners in the County Jail From the South.

Special to NEWS REVIEW.
Lisbon, Sept. 21.—The southern part of the county is well represented in the 14 prisoners who make up the guests at Sheriff Lodge's hostelry, and East Liverpool more so than any other town. Wellsville has two prisoners there and Liverpool has five. The others are from different parts of the county.

Lincoln Avenue Done.

Contractor Ryan announced today that he had completed the work of paving Lincoln avenue with the exception of a few finishing touches which will be put on early in the week. He hopes to have it all done by Tuesday evening in order that it can be presented to council and the matter settled up. The paving is a great improvement, and is already being appreciated by people living on the street.

Van B. Bernard Dead.

Van B. Bernard, one of the best known residents of Hancock county, died at the residence of Hon. Peter A. Pugh, over the river, last night, after an illness extending over many months, consumption being the disease. He was 56 years of age, and has been prominent in politics since he was a young man. John L. Bernard, the well known painter of this city, is a brother of the deceased.

If reports be true, Grover Cleveland is very much more of a success as fisherman than he is as president.

MR. CAMPBELL should not waste too much time enjoying life in the south, or that purse proud New Yorker may decide the laborer is not worthy of his hire and pull in the leading strings.

As usual Governor McKinley is being tendered a great ovation in the south. The people down there have not forgotten that he did not fear to come right among them and talk protection a year ago.

THE rumor that Mr. Brice is not only anxious to carry Ohio in order that he be senator but that he be the nominee of his party next year for the presidency, probably contains some truth. The colonel is ambitious, and ambition knows no bounds, particularly when it is backed by golden coin.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

It is now the right thing for the Prohibitionists to come forward and explain their platform. At the county convention yesterday afternoon they adopted a series of resolutions, the most important of which is certainly the most ambiguous. It deals with the tariff. As a rule the cold water people, who have never obtained any concession in Ohio except from a Republican administration, have sided with Democracy on the tariff question, even in such manufacturing and wool growing counties as this, where a protective tariff is the life of the people, and the only interest in the convention was upon that one point. Even the faithful few sweltering in the hall looked astonished when they learned that they favored "such tariff legislation as only Christian legislators can enact." If we take for what it says, we might claim with some show of reason that they endorsed a protective tariff, but that is not politics. What does it mean? Is it a straight out declaration for protection or is it a miserable straddle by which the party leaders hope to keep the free trade and high tariff men of their party in line? Does it mean that the Prohibitionists have declared for home and home industry or that they have descended to the depths of political trickery to catch a vote or two? There are members of the party, good men who claim to have left the Republican ranks because of too much politics, who will doubtless feel interested in the real meaning of the expression.

REBEL VETS. IN LINE.

Carried Stars and Stripes in Parade at Chattanooga.

ONE MORE AN OLIVE BRANCH.

Prominent Men Were Also in Line in Carriages—General Grosvenor's Speech Reunion of the Blue and Gray Last Night—Oates and Others Spoke.

CHATTANOOGA, Sept. 21.—One of the leading features of the three days' celebration that caused perhaps more comment, more enthusiastic cheering and which will make a lasting impression upon those who saw it, was a company of Confederate veterans attired in their tattered old uniforms of gray, carrying the stars and stripes. They formed a part of the military parade, and as they passed through the miles and miles of street, they were tendered an ovation that would have honored an emperor. Not one of these old war dogs were under 60, and yet they marched with a precision of step that would have done justice to West Point cadets. And, one of them, the one next to the color bearer, carried an olive wreath, an emblem of peace and love.

When the parade started, a platoon of police led, followed by a military band. Then came Vice President Stevenson and party in carriages. In the succeeding carriages were Lieutenant General Schofield, Secretary of the Interior Smith, Postmaster General Wilson, Secretary of the Navy Herbert and Attorney General Harmon, United States senators, congressmen, governors and staffs, park commissioners, Tennessee legislators, Mayor Ochs, citizens' committee and invited guests.

Another platoon of police came next and then the United States troops, the Ohio national guard, Tennessee national guard, Capital City guard of Georgia and the Chattanooga school battalion.

The formal exercises of the day were held in the big Barnum tent near the government building and were presided over by Vice President Stevenson.

After music by the band, the Rev.
Dr. S. T. Nicolls of St. Louis offered prayer. The first address was by George W. Ochs, mayor of Chattanooga.

The principal speakers were General Grosvenor of Ohio and General Bate of Tennessee.
General Grosvenor took for his text,
"War Does Legislate," and in an elaborate review of the revolution and the rebellion showed that the legislation of the battlefield had cemented the country into an indissoluble nation.

"The battle of Chickamauga was one of the great incidents of the war. The forces engaged in the battle and I maintain it without hesitation or qualification, and you, my brethren of the late Southern Confederacy, must grant me this privilege, in which you perhaps will not concur—I insist were so distributed that the disparagement of conditions and numbers were in favor of your side of the conflict. I know that it has been often repeated and as often denied that the troops of the Union army under Rosecrans were superior in numbers to the troops under Bragg.

I cannot consent to the proposition.
The best obtainable figures are those which I present in form of statistics made up from the returns of the army of Rosecrans on the 10th day of September, 1863, and the army of Bragg on the 31st of August, 1863. It appears by these figures that at the date named the army of Rosecrans consisted of 62,340 present for duty, of which number 39,570 were efficient. By like statistics it appears that there were present for duty in the army of Bragg 72,759, and of that number 66,257 were effective.

"And here upon this legislative field, where political questions were to be settled, and perpetual conditions were to be imposed upon the people of the United States, this conflict took place, and more than 30,000 men fell, killed or wounded in this bloody conflict. It was an offering upon the altar of a country's salvation, of a country's rehabilitation, of a country's glorification, that was worthy of the magnificent results that followed the war.

"As a demonstration of the spirit and power of the American soldier there is no spot on the American continent the war of Chickamauga. Over against the magnificent strategy, over against the heroic conflicts, over against its exhibition of unexcelled valor, there were fewer blunders and fewer failures and fewer mistakes than pertained to the history of any other of the great battles of the war.

"And this battle, with the other great battles of the war, legislated; and that legislation will stand forever. They have stricken down the old-time discrimination against men and in favor of men. They have spread out over the whole country the broad panoply of constitutional government and constitutional protection to the liberty of the citizen. They have not all, perhaps, been enforced everywhere, but they are in the constitution; they are the living embodiment of the legislation of the war. There is no appeal. There is no court to which resort can be had.
There is no great body of the American people that desires to appeal. The new provisions of the constitution made that instrument the glorious charter of American liberty. The temple that had been imperfectly erected by our fathers has been finished gloriously by the legislation of war.

"There will be no further legislation.
It will be execution. It will be simply the carrying into execution of the decree that was rendered in the great battles of 1861-65. The whole of it is summed up in the one great proposition:
The Union is one and inseparable, now and forever.

"It is no new doctrine, but it is a new power and a new force, and a new recognition."
Governor Woodbury, of Vermont, said that during the war each side believed it was right, but that now the new southerners would have to teach their children the south was wrong.

Governor Turney, of Tennessee, took exceptions to this in his speech. "I believed I was right during the 4 years and 19 days I served in the Confederate army," he said, "and at the end of that time I thought I was right, I still think

I was right and shall teach my children,
so. No one is more loyal to the Stars and Stripes than I and no one is more loyal to the government, but I never can be convinced that the south was wrong."

Barnum's tent was filled again last night. There was a gathering there of the survivors of the Army of Northern Virginia and that portion of the Army of the Potomac which fought at Chickamauga. General E. C. Waltham of Mississippi presided.

Colonel W. C. Oates, governor of Alabama, was the first speaker and he was greeted with enthusiastic cheers.
In his introductory remarks, Governor Oates referred enthusiastically to the significance of the dedication of the battlefield of Chickamauga portended.
The Union veteran by this ceremony extolled his own gallantry by which alone he was able to triumph over such determined foes as were those of the Confederate army.

It was complimentary to the Confederate veteran in this mainly way to acknowledge defeat, accomplished by overpowering numbers and to strike hands with his adversaries as honorable men. He next recited the action of his men at Chattanooga, telling of the heroic fight they made. Then he spoke of the causes of the war. As to slavery, it was contrary to natural rights,
but it was a lawful state institution.
But it was not for slavery the south fought, for the majority of the soldiers were laboring men and never owned a black. It was the horror of seeing 4,000,000 slaves turned loose, the invasion of their rights to local state government. They fought for the right as God gave them to see the right.

Colonel J. A. Williamson of New York and Colonel L. R. Stegman of New York also spoke, after which the meeting adjourned.
The citizens of Chattanooga have presented General H. V. Boynton a silver dinner set. He originated the idea of making a national park of the battlefield.

Blue and Gray Day at Atlanta.

ATLANTA, Sept. 21.—Today was Blue and Gray day at the Cotton States and International exposition. Governor
Morton of New York and Governor McKinley of Ohio took part in the exercises. Features of the day's programme were addresses by General James Longstreet, representing the Grand Army of the Republic in the south; General John B. Gordon, commander-in-chief of the United States
Confederate veterans, and General Walker, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic.

BIG FINANCIAL DEFICIT.

A Shortage of $59,000 in the County
Treasury at Charleston, W. Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 21.—It has been the talk for a number of years that there is a big deficit in the finances of the county, and in order to ascertain if such action be true, the present county court recently hired an expert from Baltimore, at a big sum, to come here and go through the county's books, and to report to the court what sum, if any, has been misappropriated or gotten away with. The expert has made his report, and it shows $59,000 short, which was owed by former sheriffs. The indebtedness of the county is placed at $104,743.

No theft has been committed, but it shows gross neglect in making settlements with former sheriffs and mismanagement by the county officers.

No Referee Selected.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The meeting for the purpose of selecting a referee for the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight was without result. No referee was chosen and the matter was deferred to the instance of Fitzsimmons' manager until Oct. 30, one day before the fight.
Neither Corbett or Fitzsimmons were present nor was W. A. Brady, Corbett's manager. Martin Julian, who represented Fitzsimmons, said he favored the selection of "Yank" Sullivan
as referee.

Thirteen Killed and Sixty Injured.

CHEMUNTS, Sept. 21.—A military train returning from the manoeuvres has been wrecked on the Freiberg and Oberan railway line. Thirteen of those on board the train were killed and 60 injured more or less severely.

A Colored Murderer Hung.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., Sept. 21.—
Robert Poole, colored, has been hanged ored, in 1889. The execution was without incident.

If reports be true, Grover Cleveland is very much more of a success as fisherman than he is as president.

MR. CAMPBELL should not waste too much time enjoying life in the south, or that purse proud New Yorker may decide the laborer is not worthy of his hire and pull in the leading strings.

As usual Governor McKinley is being tendered a great ovation in the south. The people down there have not forgotten that he did not fear to come right among them and talk protection a year ago.

The rumor that Mr. Brice is not only anxious to carry Ohio in order that he be senator but that he be the nominee of his party next year for the presidency, probably contains some truth. The colonel is ambitious, and ambition knows no bounds, particularly when it is backed by golden coin.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

It is now the right thing for the prohibitionists to come forward and explain their platform. At the county convention yesterday afternoon they adopted a series of resolutions, the most important of which is certainly the most ambiguous. It deals with the tariff. As a rule the cold water people, who have never obtained any concession in Ohio except from a Republican administration, have sided with Democracy on the tariff question, even in such manufacturing and wool growing counties as this, where a protective tariff is the life of the people, and the only interest in the convention was upon that one point. Even the faithful few sweltering in the hall looked astonished when they learned that they favored "such tariff legislation as only Christian legislators can enact." If we take it for what it says, we might claim with some show of reason that they endorsed a protective tariff, but that is not politics. What does it mean? Is it a straight out declaration for protection or is it a miserable straddle by which the party leaders hope to keep the free trade and high tariff men of their party in line? Does it mean that the prohibitionists have declared for home and home industry or that they have descended to the depths of political trickery to catch a vote or two? There are members of the party, good men who claim to have left the Republican ranks because of too much politics, who will doubtless feel interested in the real meaning of the expression.

ONE BORE AN OLIVE BRANCH.

Prominent Men Were Also In Line In Carriages—General Grosvenor's Speech Reunion of the Blue and Gray Last Night—Oates and Others Spoke.

CHATTANOOGA, Sept. 21.—One of the leading features of the three days' celebration that caused perhaps more comment, more enthusiastic cheering and which will make a lasting impression upon those who saw it, was a company of Confederate veterans attired in their tattered old uniforms of gray, carrying the stars and stripes. They formed a part of the military parade, and as they passed through the miles and miles of street, they were tendered an ovation that would have honored an emperor. Not one of these old war dogs were under 60, and yet they marched with a precision of step that would have done justice to West Point cadets. And, one of them, the one next to the color bearer, carried an olive wreath, an emblem of peace and love.

When the parade started, a platoon of police led, followed by a military band. Then came Vice President Stevenson and party in carriages. In the succeeding carriages were Lieutenant General Schofield, Secretary of the Interior Smith, Postmaster General Wilson, Secretary of the Navy Herbert and Attorney General Harmon, United States senators, congressmen, governors and staffs, park commissioners, Tennessee legislators, Mayor Ochs, citizens' committee and invited guests.

Another platoon of police came next and then the United States troops, the Ohio national guard, Tennessee national guard, Capital City guard of Georgia and the Chattanooga school battalion.

The formal exercises of the day were held in the big Barnum tent near the government building and were presided over by Vice President Stevenson.

After music by the band, the Rev. Dr. S. T. Nichols of St. Louis offered prayer. The first address was by George W. Ochs, mayor of Chattanooga.

The principal speakers were General Grosvenor of Ohio and General Bate of Tennessee. General Grosvenor took for his text, "War Does Legislate," and in an elaborate review of the revolution and the rebellion showed that the legislation of the battlefield had cemented the country into an indissoluble nation.

"The battle of Chickamauga was one of the great incidents of the war. The forces engaged in the battle and I maintain it without hesitation or qualification, and you, my brethren of the late Southern Confederacy, must grant me this privilege, in which you perhaps will not concur—I insist were so distributed that the disparagement of conditions and numbers were in favor of your side of the conflict. I know that it has been often repeated and as often denied that the troops of the Union army under Rosecrans were superior in numbers to the troops under Bragg. I cannot consent to the proposition. The best obtainable figures are those which I present in form of statistics made up from the returns of the army of Rosecrans on the 10th day of September, 1863, and the army of Bragg on the 31st of August, 1863. It appears by these figures that at the date named the army of Rosecrans consisted of 62,340 men for duty, of which number 59,870 were efficient. By like statistics it appears that there were present for duty in the army of Bragg 72,759, and of that number 66,857 were effective.

"And here upon this legislative field, where political questions were to be settled, and perpetual conditions were to be imposed upon the people of the United States, this conflict took place, and more than 30,000 men fell, killed or wounded in this bloody conflict. It was an offering upon the altar of the nation's salvation, of a country's purification, of a country's rehabilitation, of a country's glorification, that was worthy of the magnificent results that followed the war.

"As a demonstration of the spirit and power of the American soldier there is no spot on the American continent the equal of Chickamauga. Over against the magnificent strategy, over against the heroic conflicts, over against the exhibition of unexcelled valor, there were fewer blunders and fewer failures and fewer mistakes than pertained to the history of any other of the great battles of the war.

"And this battle, with the other great battles of the war, legislated; and that legislation will stand forever. They have stricken down the old-time discrimination against men and in favor of men. They have spread out over the whole country the broad canopy of constitutional government and constitutional protection to the liberty of the citizen. They have not all, perhaps, been enforced everywhere, but they are in the constitution; they are the living embodiment of the legislation of the war. There is no appeal. There is no court to which resort can be had. There is no great body of the American people that desires to appeal. The new provisions of the constitution made that instrument the glorious charter of American liberty. The temple that had been imperfectly erected by our fathers has been finished gloriously by the legislation of war.

"There will be no further legislation. It will be execution. It will be simply the carrying into execution of the decree that was rendered in the great battles of 1861-65. The whole of it is summed up in the one great proposition: The Union is one and inseparable, now and forever.

"It is no new doctrine, but it is a new power and a new force, and a new recognition."

Governor Woodbury, of Vermont, said that during the war each side believed it was right, but that now the new southerners would have to teach their children the south was wrong.

Governor Turney, of Tennessee, took exceptions to this in his speech. "I believed I was right during the 4 years and 19 days I served in the Confederate army," he said, "and at the end of that time I thought I was right, I still think

I was right and shall teach my children so. No one is more loyal to the Stars and Stripes than I and no one is more loyal to the government, but I never can be convinced that the south was wrong."

Barnum's tent was filled again last night. There was a gathering there of the survivors of the Army of Northern Virginia and that portion of the Army of the Potomac which fought at Chickamauga. General E. C. Waltham of Mississippi presided.

Colonel W. C. Oates, governor of Alabama, was the first speaker and he was greeted with enthusiastic cheers. In his introductory remarks, Governor Oates referred enthusiastically to the significance of the dedication of the battlefield of Chickamauga portended. The Union veteran by this ceremony extolled his own gallantry by which alone he was able to triumph over such determined foes as were those of the Confederate army.

It was complimentary to the Confederate veteran in this manly way to acknowledge defeat, accomplished by overpowering numbers and to strike hands with his adversaries as honorable men. He next recited the action of his men at Chattanooga, telling of the heroic fight they made. Then he spoke of the causes of the war. As to slavery, it was contrary to natural rights, but it was a lawful state institution.

But it was not for slavery the south fought, for the majority of the soldiers were laboring men and never owned a black. It was the horror of seeing 4,000,000 slaves turned loose, the invasion of their rights to local state government. They fought for the right as God gave them to see the right.

Colonel J. A. Williamson of New York and Colonel L. R. Stegman of New York also spoke, after which the meeting adjourned.

The citizens of Chattanooga have presented General H. V. Boynton a silver dinner set. He originated the idea of making a national park of the battlefield.

Blue and Gray Day at Atlanta.

ATLANTA, Sept. 21.—Today was Blue and Gray day at the Cotton States and International exposition. Governor Morton of New York and Governor McKinley of Ohio took part in the exercises. Features of the day's programme were addresses by General James Longstreet, representing the Grand Army of the Republic in the south; General John B. Gordon, commander-in-chief of the United States Confederate veterans, and General Walker, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic.

BIG FINANCIAL DEFICIT.

A Shortage of $59,000 In the County Treasury at Charleston, W. Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 21.—It has been the talk for a number of years that there is a big deficit in the finances of the county, and in order to ascertain if such assertion be true, the present county court recently hired an expert from Baltimore, at a big sum, to come here and go through the county's books, and to report to the court what sum, if any, has been misappropriated or gotten away with. The expert has made his report, and it shows $59,000 short, which was owed by former sheriffs. The indebtedness of the county is placed at $104,743.

No theft has been committed, but it shows gross neglect in making settlements with former sheriffs and mismanagement by the county officers.

No Referee Selected.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The meeting for the purpose of selecting a referee for the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight was without result. No referee was chosen and the matter was deferred at the instance of Fitzsimmons' manager until Oct. 30, one day before the fight. Neither Corbett or Fitzsimmons were present nor was W. A. Brady, Corbett's manager. Martin Julian, who represented Fitzsimmons, said he favored the selection of "Yank" Sullivan as referee.

DUN'S TRADE REVIEW.

Wheat Rose In Spite of Gold Exports, but Fell.

IRON BEING BOUGHT IN EUROPE.

An Advance In Prices and a Surprising Increase In Production Seem to Be Giving the Business a Check.—The Business Failures.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: In spite of gold exports wheat advanced for some days, in all nearly 2c, mainly because a single speculator bought, but on Friday fell about 1c. Corn rose and fell in sympathy with wheat, with as little reason. Western wheat receipts for three weeks of September have been 16,891,660 bushels, against 16,491,629 last year, while Atlantic exports, flour included, have been 3,941,693 bushels, against 7,621,986 last year. Good reports of foreign crops, weakness of flour in Minnesota and large exports of corn from this country, all work against a rise in wheat, though scarcity of contract grades may help a speculative advance. Pork products have been reasonably yielding, with prospects of a large corn crop, but before the close had a stronger tone. The cotton market, lifting and falling a fraction each day alternately, shows no settled tendency, big stocks balancing an undoubted but as yet not definite decrease in yield.

The surprising increase in production and advance in prices of iron seem to be bringing a natural check, as prices have gone so high as to cause some purchases from Europe, both of pig and finished products, and have also caused a distinct shrinkage in home demand. Pig bought at Middleboro for America, and foreign ore ordered in large quantities to make iron in eastern furnaces, have depressed bismuth at Pittsburgh to $16.90, though gray forge is higher at $18.40; lake ore and freights have advanced, and the beginning of a strike of Connellsville coke workers will tend to prevent reduction in prices, unless soon stopped by the concession of the 11 per cent advance in wages demanded. While the coke production is very large and contracts for the year are made at $1.30 for furnace coke, which sold early this year below $1 per ton, it is believed that higher wages can be paid without affecting the market for finished products, which has advanced still more. Refined bar is quoted at $1.45 and tank steel at 2 cents at Philadelphia, and the combination has raised cut nails 2 cents so that the average of all iron products has risen 5 1/2 per cent in September and 5 3/4 per cent since the lowest point last January, and is now higher than in October, 1892. Nearly all mills in operation have orders enough for some months, though a present decrease in demand is admitted.

Leather has further advanced in some qualities, though the rise of 51 per cent for the first half of the year on 16 qualities has been followed by only two pieces since July 1, and this week a break has occurred of 2c in Union crop. Hides are 8 per cent lower than in July.

The woolen manufacturers are doing well in dress goods and hosiery, but the demand for men's woolsens is much restricted, and a few mills have closed. Sales of wool are smaller than last year, and for three weeks only 17,133,470 pounds, of which 7,718,370 were foreign, against 24,723,400 pounds in 1894, of which 7,164,000 were foreign. Prices of foreign wool are so low that purchases for export have been made.

The failures this week have been 213 in the United States against 210 last year and 32 in Canada against 48 last year.

CHOLERA ON THE INCREASE.

Many Deaths in China and Japan—Precautions Taken at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—The steamer Gaelic, which has arrived from Hong Kong and Yokohama, did not stop at Honolulu. She brought 11 cabin passengers from Hiogo, the worst infested cholera district in the Orient. No sickness was reported on the trip across and no alarm was felt by the ship's officers. Since last advices there has been an increase of the cholera plague in the Oriental ports. During the two weeks preceding the sailing of the ship there had been six deaths from cholera in Hong Kong, 51 deaths out of 54 cases at Nagasaki, 256 deaths out of 329 cases at Hiogo, and 27 cases with 19 deaths at Yokohama.

After inspection by members of the board of health, the passengers and mails were landed, and the steamer returned to quarantine. The postmaster has received instructions from Washington, in response to his suggestion, directing him to fumigate all mails received from infected ports. The chief of police has ordered a house to house canvass for the purpose of compelling all citizens to put their houses in the best sanitary condition possible.

China Will Reclaim Territory.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—A special dispatch from Shanghai states that the Chinese expect to retake possession of the Liaoting peninsula about the middle of October.

A U. S. COMMISSION.

It Starts at Once to Investigate the Cheng-Tu Riots.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Minister Denby has completed at last the arrangements for the investigation of the missionary riots at Cheng-Tu, in the province of Szechuen, western China. He has cabled Secretary Olney that the Chinese government had withdrawn its opposition to the commission and that the latter would start at once for the scene of the riots. The riots at Cheng-Tu occurred late last spring, but owing to the distance of Cheng-Tu from the coast weeks elapsed before even the first reports reached the cable terminus. While no American missionaries were killed much valuable mission property was destroyed and the purpose of the commission is to fix the responsibility for the outrages, secure the punishment of the guilty parties and probably financial reparation for the losses sustained by the missionaries.

As the British missions suffered much more than the American missions, and in their case there was actual loss of life, our state department sought to secure the corporation of the British government in making the investigation and in a joint demand upon the Chinese government for full reparation, just as was done in the case of the Yenching investigation. The British government consented at first, and charged one of their consuls to represent it, but delayed sending the latter so long that our own government, finding that the British would not be ready until well along in the fall, determined upon independent action. The Chinese government did not relish the plan, but according to Mr. Denby's dispatch it has finally given its consent to the inquiry and will send a Chinese official as a member of the commission. The representatives of our government will be Sheridan P. Read, United States consul at Tien-Tsin, and Fleming D. Cheshire, the interpreter of the United States legation at Peking.

Supposed Arms For Cuba.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—The secretary of state has received a letter from the Spanish minister stating that a number of boxes, supposed to contain arms and ammunition intended for the Cuban insurgents, have been shipped from Philadelphia to Southampton, N. C., by train, there to be taken on board a vessel to sail for Cuba. Subsequently a telegram was received from United States Attorney Aycock, at Wilmington, N. C., stating that the boxes had arrived there and had been placed on board the steamer Commodore. The captain said they contained mining machinery.

He Killed Three Men.

MCKINNEY, Ky., Sept. 21.—News of a most terrible battle has been reported from Adams & Trobridge's distillery, in Pulaski county, 15 miles south of this place. Lee McKinney says six men, one of them named Cain of Mintonville, engaged in a game of poker in a little 12x12 room at the distillery. A dispute over the game arose and then shooting began. Cain alone escaped and is accredited with slaying all the dead.

HOLBROOK A HUMBUG.

So President Ballantine of Oberlin College Announces.

PROMISED THE SCHOOL $200,000.

The President and a Trustee Investigated His Record in Chicago—Offered the Endowment If Made a Professor—Very Prominent in School Affairs.

BERLIN, O., Sept. 21.—Oberlin college's expected endowment of $200,000 has vanished into thin air. President Ballantine announces that Z. Swift Holbrook, the promised donor, is a humbug. He and a trustee went to Chicago to investigate Holbrook's record and this is the result.

About two years ago Holbrook managed to get on good terms with prominent college people here. He represented himself as a millionaire interested along sociological lines. He placed his children in school here and moved in the best of society.

He was once a minister in Massachusetts and was often called upon to preach here. In June, a summer school of Christian sociology was held here and Holbrook was a prominent speaker along with Washington Gladden, Samuel Gompers, James R. Sovereign and others.

A short time ago he intimated to the trustees of Oberlin college that if they would appoint him professor of sociology he would see that the chair was endowed for $200,000.

AN EX-SHERIFF ARRESTED.

The Grand Jury at Washington C. H. Indicts Him For Embezzlement.

WASHINGTON C. H., O., Sept. 21.—The Fayette county common pleas grand jury has caused the arrest at his residence of ex-Sheriff A. B. Rankin, who was sheriff four years. All nine indictments were against him charging embezzlement in as many cases during his two terms as sheriff. The largest sum alleged to have been embezzled is $2,500, the other cases being for smaller amounts.

Capiases were issued in five cases, and after being arrested Mr. Rankin was arraigned in open court and placed under bond, $500 in one case, $300 in another and $100 each in three other cases. Mr. Rankin was not long in furnishing bond, and Sheriff Looftrow did not even have to let him look inside of the jail. He says he is innocent.

Surveyor Farmer and Engineer George succeeded yesterday in straightening out the difficulty in regard to the lines on East Market street, even though they were compelled to work hard in the office at city hall while the sun beat into the western windows as though its duty was to melt them both. COMING ELECTIONS.

A Complete List of Political Contests This Year.

People who talk politics, and their name is legion in Liverpool, will soon be demanding material upon which to base their arguments. These are found day by day in the secular press, but it is not often that a complete list of the elections to be held in the different states can be secured, and the following will be of interest to every man who wants to quote facts to his friends before election day. It covers the ground completely, and not only gives the dates, but names so many public men that it is valuable as a table of merit.

State elections will be held Nov. 5, in 12 states, as follows: Ohio, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Nebraska, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia and in the territory of Utah, which will, by that time, have about complied with all the conditions required of it to make a state. Oregon, Rhode Island, Michigan and Wisconsin held elections early in the year. An election will be held in Connecticut on Oct. 7, for town officers, and to pass upon a proposed redistricting of the state senate.

In seven states and the territory of Utah governors will also be elected. These states will also choose United States senators in 1896. Altogether 29 senators will know their fate in 1896, although not all of the legislatures to make the selections will be elected this year. The senators whose terms expire in 1897 are Calvin S. Brice (Dem.), Ohio; James L. Pugh (Dem.), Alabama; James K. Jones (Dem.), Arkansas; George C. Perkins (Rep.), California; Orville H. Platt (Rep.), Connecticut; Wilkinson Call (Dem.), Florida; John B. Gordon (Dem.), Georgia; Fred T. Dubois (Rep.), Idaho; John M. Palmer (Dem.), Illinois; Daniel W. Voorhees (Dem.), Indiana; William B. Allison (Rep.), Iowa; William A. Peffer (Pop.), Kansas; J. C. S. Blackburn (Dem.), Kentucky; Newton C. Blanchard (Dem.), Louisiana; Charles H. Gibson (Dem.), Maryland; George G. Vest (Dem.), Missouri; John P. John (Rep.), Nevada; Jacob H. Gallinger (Rep.), New Hampshire; David H. Hill (Dem.), New York; Peter C. Pritchard (Rep.), North Carolina; Henry C. Hansbrough (Rep.), North Dakota; John H. Mitchell (Rep.), Oregon; James D. Cameron (Rep.), Pennsylvania; John L. M. Irby (Dem.), South Carolina; James H. Kyle (Pop.), South Dakota; Justin S. Morrill (Rep.), Vermont; Watson C. Squire (Rep.), Washington; William F. Vilas (Dem.), Wisconsin.

The successor to Senator Gibson of Maryland will be elected by the 14 senators and all of the lower house of the legislature, to be chosen Nov. 5. In Missouri the successor of Senator Vest (Dem.) will be chosen by the legislature that will elect a successor to Senator John P. Jones (Rep.). On the same day New Hampshire will elect a legislature to choose a successor to Senator Gallinger (Rep.), and New York will elect, with the 50 senators to be elected in November and 150 assemblymen, a successor to Senator Hill (Dem.). North Carolina will elect a successor to Senator Pritchard in January, 1896. North Dakota will elect a successor to Senator Hansbrough (Rep.). Ohio will elect the successor to Senator Brice (Dem.) in the same month. Oregon will elect a successor to Senator Mitchell (Rep.). In Pennsylvania a successor will be chosen for Senator Cameron (Rep.). South Carolina will elect a successor to Senator Irby by the legislature to be chosen in November 1896.

South Dakota's senator, now Kyle, (Pop.), will be elected in January, 1897, by the legislature to be chosen in November, 1896. The successor of Senator Morrill (Rep.), Vermont, will be chosen by the legislature to be elected in 1896. Washington will next year choose a legislature that must elect the successor to Senator Squire (Rep.), about the same time that Wisconsin is to elect a successor to Senator Vilas (Dem.). Utah will probably be prepared by the election of Nov. 5 to elect two senators, to be seated in 1896.

In Georgia it is expected that there will be a new election for representative in congress in the Tenth district, in which J. J. C. Black was returned as re-elected. Tom Watson asserted fraud in the election, and to remove all question about it the two candidates will resubmit themselves to a vote of the district. A vacancy having been created in the Sixth Massachusetts district by the death of Representative William Cogswell, an election to supply the place will probably be held Nov. 5. Representative Myron B. Wright of Pennsylvania, elected in 1894, died Nov. 13, soon after his re-election, and the Fifteenth district elected James H. Coddington as his successor.

hair and beautiful

—the woman who keeps at a distance the complexion beautifiers, paints and powders, which soon ruin the face. A healthy glow to the skin, a face without wrinkles, and sparkling eyes, will be yours if you keep the system and the special internal organs in good condition. The young girl, or woman, often grows pale, wrinkled and thin, eats little, everything wears her, she complains of herself as aching and sore and as sleeping poorly. Often she is troubled with backache, or a tender spine, with a bearing-down weight in the abdomen, or at periods she may be irregular, or suffer extreme pain from functional derangements.

Dr. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., in his long and active experience, met many cases of this kind, for which he used a prescription which was found to cure such difficulties permanently in nearly every case. Having proven so successful, Dr. Pierce put his "Favorite Prescription" on the market, and it is today sold more largely than any other medicine for the ills of women.

For all functional derangements, displacements, ulceration, inflammation, and the catarrhal drain from the lining membranes of the special internal organs of women, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription reaches the origin of the trouble, and corrects it.

Mrs. Mary Crim, of Frankfort, Franklin Co., Ill., writes: "A few years ago I took cold, which resulted in female trouble, and affected my whole system. About a year ago, I took chills, and for two or three months, they were very weakening. Had pains in my side, and frequently in the left side, gradually grew worse until, finally, I had to take to bed. I had a bad cough and couldn't rest. I commenced taking your medicine, took it about four months, taking seven bottles of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription and five of his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' My weight has increased, and I feel better and stouter than I have for years."

Stole the Nozzle.

She is a very careful lady, and each evening makes it her specialty to see that all movable property, liable to be carried away by sneak thieves, is snugly tucked away in the inner portals of her cosy home. Last evening she desired to sprinkle the lawn, in which operation she taketh much delight, and after securing the hose and affixing the same to the plug, she turned on the water and started to handle the spray nozzle, when she was dismayed by discovering that some miserable sneak thief had captured the sprayer. Was she angry? Go ask the gentle zephyrs which surrounded and fanned her heated temples. Like the Quaker of old, she would have given much to have the average street Arab give expression to her indignation.

Swore at the Patrolman.

John B. Young, an old man who said he was from Fredericktown, was drunk on the street this afternoon, and wandering to the vicinity of the patrol station, made himself obnoxious by swearing at Patrolman McMillen. He was ordered to stop, but he continued to use the wicked words, and the patrolman, calling in the aid of Officer Whan, took him down. He was the only prisoner at city hall this afternoon.

While in Chicago, Mr. Charles L. Kahler, a prominent shoe merchant of Des Moines, Iowa, had quite a serious time of it. He took such a severe cold that he could hardly talk or navigate, but the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured him of his cold so quickly that others at the hotel who had bad colds followed his example and half a dozen persons ordered it from the nearest drug store. They were profuse in their thanks to Mr. Kahler for telling them how to cure a bad cold so quickly. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, Sixth and West Market street, druggists.

A Service of Song.

Mr. Hopkins will deliver a short talk at each entertainment.

Irving W. Larimore, physical director of Young Men's Christian association, Des Moines, Iowa, says he can conscientiously recommend Chamberlain's Pain Balm to athletes, gymnasts, bicyclists, foot ball players, and the profession in general for bruises, sprains and dislocation; also for soreness and stiffness of the muscles. When applied before the parts become swollen it will effect a cure in one-half the time usually required. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, Sixth and West Market streets, druggists.

THE ITALIAN FETES.

Ex-Premier Crispi Denies They Were Directed Against the Pope.

ROME, Sept. 21.—The fetes celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the entry of the Italian army into Rome, which began on the 14th inst., culminated in the ceremony of the unveiling of the monument of General Garibaldi on the Janiculum hill, in the presence of King Humbert and the royal family, the court, ministers and deputations of veterans who served under Garibaldi. The 50,000 people who witnessed the ceremony displayed the utmost enthusiasm. The decorations of public and private buildings were of the most imposing and liberal character.

Signor Crispi concluded his speech by saying: "The fetes are not directed against the pope. Do not let us mar the solemnity of this ceremony, in which the whole of Italy is united, but remember that the jubilee reminds us of our duty to defend a patriotic inheritance won through long years of sacrifice."

He does not doubt that the women were diseased.

COMING ELECTIONS.

A Complete List of Political Contests This Year.

People who talk politics, and their name is legion in Liverpool, will soon be demanding material upon which to base their arguments. These are found day by day in the secular press, but it is not often that a complete list of the elections to be held in the different states can be secured, and the following will be of interest to every man who wants to quote facts to his friends before election day. It covers the ground completely, and not only gives the dates, but names so many public men that it is valuable as a table of merit:

State elections will be held Nov. 5, in 12 states, as follows: Ohio, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Nebraska, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia and in the territory of Utah, which will, by that time, have about complied with all the conditions required of it to make a state. Oregon, Rhode Island, Michigan and Wisconsin held elections early in the year. An election will be held in Connecticut on Oct. 7, for town officers and to pass upon a proposed redistricting of the state senate.

In seven states and the territory of Utah governors will also be elected. These states will also choose United States senators in 1896. Altogether 29 senators will know their fate in 1896, although not all of the legislatures to make the selections will be elected this year. The senators whose terms expire in 1897 are Calvin S. Brice (Dem.), Ohio; James L. Pugh (Dem.), Alabama; James K. Jones (Dem.), Arkansas; George C. Perkins (Rep.), California; Henry M. Teller (Rep.), Colorado; Orville H. Platt (Rep.), Connecticut; Wilkinson Call (Dem.), Florida; John B. Gordon (Dem.), Georgia; Fred T. Dubois (Rep.), Idaho; John M. Palmer (Dem.), Illinois; Daniel W. Voorhees (Dem.), Indiana; William B. Allison (Rep.), Iowa; William A. Peffer (Pop.), Kansas; J. C. S. Blackburn (Dem.), Kentucky; Newton C. Blanchard (Dem.), Louisiana; Charles H. Gibson (Dem.), Maryland; George G. Vest (Dem.), Missouri; John P. John (Rep.), Nevada; Jacob H. Gallinger (Rep.), New Hampshire; David H. Hill (Dem.), New York; Peter C. Pritchard (Rep.), North Carolina; Henry C. Hansbrough (Rep.), North Dakota; John H. Mitchell (Rep.), Oregon; James D. Cameron (Rep.), Pennsylvania; John L. M. Irby (Dem.), South Carolina; James H. Kyle (Pop.), South Dakota; Justin S. Morrill (Rep.), Vermont; Watson C. Squire (Rep.), Washington; William F. Vilas (Dem.), Wisconsin.

The successor to Senator Gibson of Maryland will be elected by the 14 senators and all of the lower house of the legislature, to be chosen Nov. 5. In Missouri the successor of Senator Vest (Dem.) will be chosen by the legislature that will elect a successor to Senator John P. Jones (Rep.). On the same day New Hampshire will elect a legislature to choose a successor to Senator Gallinger (Rep.), and New York will elect, with the 50 senators to be elected in November and 150 assemblymen, a successor to Senator Hill (Dem.). North Carolina will elect a successor to Senator Pritchard in January, 1896. North Dakota will elect a successor to Senator Hansbrough (Rep.). Ohio will elect the successor to Senator Brice (Dem.). In the same month, Oregon will elect a successor to Senator Mitchell (Rep.). In Pennsylvania a successor will be chosen for Senator Cameron (Rep.). South Carolina will elect a successor to Senator Irby by the legislature to be chosen in November 1896.

South Dakota's senator, now Kyle, (Pop.), will be elected in January, 1897, by the legislature to be chosen in November, 1896. The successor of Senator Morrill (Rep.), Vermont, will be chosen by the legislature to be elected in 1896. Washington will next year choose a legislature that must elect the successor to Senator Squire (Rep.), about the same time that Wisconsin is to elect a successor to Senator Vilas (Dem.). Utah will probably be prepared by the election of Nov. 5 to elect two senators, to be seated in 1896.

In Georgia it is expected that there will be a new election for representative in congress in the Tenth district, in which J. C. Black was returned as re-elected. Tom Watson asserted fraud in the election, and to remove all question about it the two candidates will resubmit themselves to a vote of the district. A vacancy having been created in the Sixth Massachusetts district by the death of Representative William Cogswell, an election to supply the place will probably be held Nov. 5. Representative Myron B. Wright of Pennsylvania, elected in 1894, died Nov. 13, soon after his re-election, and the Fifteenth district elected James H. Coddling as his successor.

Fair and beautiful

the woman who keeps at a distance the complexion beautifiers, paints and powders, which soon ruin the face. A healthy glow to the skin, a face without wrinkles and sparkling eyes, will be yours if you keep the system and the special internal organs in good condition. The young girl, or woman, often grows pale, wrinkled and thin, eats little, everything wears her, she complains of herself as aching and sore and as sleeping poorly. Often she is troubled with a tender spine, with a bearing-down weight in the abdomen, or at periods she may be irregular, or suffer extreme pain from functional derangements.

Dr. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., in his long and active experience, met many cases of this kind, for which he used a prescription which was found to cure such difficulties permanently in nearly every case of all cases. Having proven so successful, Dr. Pierce put his "Favorite Prescription" on the market, and it is today sold more largely than any other medicine for the ills of women.

For all functional derangements, displacements, ulceration, inflammation, and the catarrhal drain from the lining membranes of the special internal organs of women, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription reaches the origin of the trouble, and corrects it.

Mrs. MARY CRIM, of Frankfort, Franklin Co., Ill., writes: "A few years ago I took cold, which resulted in female trouble, and affected my whole system. About a year ago, I took chills, and for two months they were very weakening. Had pains in my sides more frequently than in any other part of my body. I had to take to bed, and couldn't rest. I commenced taking your medicine, took it about four months, taking seven bottles of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription and five of his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' My weight has increased, and I feel better and stouter than I have for years."
